OHSAS 18001:2007

Occupational Health & Safety Management Systems

What is OHSAS 18001?

OHSAS 18001:2007 is an international standard developed by the OHSAS Project Group, an association that includes government agencies, certification bodies, national standards, industry associations, and consultants.

Revised in the year 2007 (hence the designation OHSAS 18001:2007), the intent of this standard is to provide organizations with the elements of an effective Occupational Health and Safety Management System (OHSMS) that can be integrated with other management requirements and help organizations achieve Occupational health and Safety (OH&S) and economic objectives.

OHSAS 18001 Principles

- Plan: establish the objectives and processes necessary to deliver results in accordance with the organization's OH&S policy.
- Do: implement the processes.
- Check: monitor and measure outcomes against OH&S policy, objectives and compliance obligations, and report the results.
- Act: take actions to continually improve OH&S performance.
